Check out what MedTech Innovator CEO Paul Grand had to say about why it's important for his nonprofit group to fill the funding gap for early-stage medical device companies.

"If we don't start supporting the good companies that we're finding and we don't make sure they're successful and getting to the market where they can help patients, we're going to have a problem. Our future as a health-care industry is in jeopardy." – Paul Grand, CEO, MedTech Innovator
