US FDA Commissioner Scott Gottlieb is looking for more money for the agency's device center so it can help support the National Evaluation System for health Technology (NEST). Check out what he said here.

"Expanding the FDA's capacity to utilize real-world evidence to evaluate the pre- and post-market safety and effectiveness of medical products ... could improve the efficiency of the regulatory process and better inform patients and providers about pre- and post-market safety." –Scott Gottlieb, commissioner, US FDA
