Temple, Texas, wants to be the next medtech hotspot. Tami Annable, who heads the Temple Health and Bioscience Economic Development District, discusses the plan here.

"We're small – we're just a 5,000 square foot facility, [but] in my mind we're a 'proof-of-concept. My job is to fill it and then go back to the board of directors and say 'build me more.'" – Tami Annable, executive director, Temple Health and Bioscience Economic Development District
