

11 Dec 2018 | News

QUOTED. Dec. 11, 2018. Greg Crist.

by

US industry lobbyists are downplaying the practical impacts to the industry – at least so far – of the scathing report of medical malpractice, undue government influence, and questionable marketing practices published by the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists in recent weeks.

“Each of the patients profiled told a difficult, unfortunate story, and we take every one of them seriously. Yet many of the incidents predate key regulatory and legislative reforms made over the years [and] some of ICIJ’s conclusions regarding those stories were, frankly, false.” - Greg Crist, chief advocacy officer, AdvaMed

- Find out more: US Medtech Lobbyists Say They're Not Worried About Political Backlash From "Implant Files"

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight