

20 Mar 2019 | News

QUOTED. March 20, 2019. William Mihalko.

by

In this week's Results Recap covering trial data from the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons Annual Meeting in Las Vegas March 12-16, Myosience released encouraging preliminary results from a 125-patient study on its lovera cryoanalgesia therapy. See what the presenter of the results, William Mihalko, from Campbell Clinic of Germantown, Tennessee, said about it here.

“While knee replacement surgery is an effective option for relieving pain and restoring function for patients, concern has shifted to addressing how outcomes are negatively affected by the prolonged use of opioids. We are confident the progress demonstrated by the positive preliminary data presented today is a strong indication for the final results of this clinical trial.” –William Mihalko, professor of orthopedic surgery, Campbell Clinic

- Find out more: AAOS Results Recap: Stryker's Knee-Surgery Robot And Miach's New ACL Scaffold

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight