Catherine Mohr, president of the Intuitive Foundation, recently sat down with Medtech Insight to talk about her plans for the foundation including building a global, data-based network to train future surgeons who will be caring for millions of new patients in Asia and Africa. See what Mohr said about it here.

"By having a really good AI coach that is observing what you're doing and is giving you advice as you're going along, this is incredibly enabling. This is how we get around the problem of not having thousands and thousands of master surgeons to teach this next generation of surgeons to be educated." – Catherine Mohr, president, Intuitive Foundation
