

26 Nov 2020 | News

QUOTED. 26 November 2020. Rachel Nuzum.

by

Policy experts predicted how the incoming Biden administration will handle health care issues at a recent Alliance for Health Policy webinar. Rachel Nuzum, VP of state and federal policy at The Commonwealth Fund, said telehealth could be a priority.

“States are evaluating what they’d like to see done in a Biden administration. Telehealth, for example. Some states are looking to telehealth as a way to get things done.” – Rachel Nuzum, VP of state and federal policy, The Commonwealth Fund.

- Find out more: 10 Predictions On How Health Policy Could Change Under A Biden Presidency

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight