

15 Oct 2021 | News

QUOTED. Jake Leach.

by

After receiving the nod from the FDA in July to let third-party developers integrate real-time continuous glucose monitoring data in their devices, Dexcom announced its first partnership is with Garmin. See what Jake Leach, Dexcom's chief technology officer, said about it here.

“The addition of Garmin wearables and cycling computers to the Dexcom CGM ecosystem is an exciting advancement for Dexcom users who are now able to easily view and monitor their glucose levels from their favorite Garmin device.” – Jake Leach, chief technology officer, Dexcom

- Find out more: Dexcom Announces CGM Real-Time Data Now Available On Garmin Wearables, Bike Computers

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight